

Nick Morrison

USA

Dr. Nick Morrison is the President of the International Union of Phlebology and Past President of the American College of Phlebology, and a Diplomate of the American Board of Venous and Lymphatic Medicine. He is a general surgeon by training, and since 1996 he has concentrated his practice on the care and treatment of venous and lymphatic disorders. He has authored a large number of research articles and book chapters, and has lectured extensively around the world.